A long time ago, in a galaxy far, far away….

- “You will get out at least what you put in”
  - This module is build to be interactive
  - It leverages the following techniques: Q&A, Lectures, Group discussions, Personal reflection time, Self-Coaching, Share of experience and Feed-Back.
Objectives

- At the end of this session, you will be able to
  - Understand and explain basic concepts and theories around leadership
  - Identify your personal leadership style to date
  - Share thoughts and personal experience around leadership; Learn from other’s stories
  - Recognize, evaluate and nurture some of your strengths as a Leader, both in your private and academic / professional life.
  - Identify some areas for development as a Leader and how you could do differently tomorrow, both in your private and academic / professional life.
Introduction

- What is “Leadership”?
- What is the difference between “Leader” and “Manager”?
- What is a “Leadership style”?
- Overview of different leadership theories
Basic concepts

What is “Leadership”?

- The Leadership is the individuals who are the leaders in an organization, regarded collectively.

- “Leadership is the ability of an individual to influence, motivate and enable others to contribute towards the effectiveness and success of the organization”

- “Leadership is a process of social influence in which one person can enlist the aid and support of others in the accomplishment of a common task”

What are the key elements of these 2 definitions?
Basic concepts

- “Managers are people who do things right and leaders are people who do the right thing. Both roles are crucial, and they differ profoundly. I often observe people in top positions doing the wrong things well.”

- “Management is doing things right; leadership is doing the right things.”
  - Peter Drucker, and Warren Bennis, as quoted in Seven Habits of Highly Effective People (1989) by Stephen R. Covey

- “Business Leaders have much more in common with artists than they do with Managers”
  - Abraham Zaleznik, “Managers and Leaders, Are they different?” (1977)
Basic concepts

- Leadership style is the manner and approach of providing direction, implementing plans, and motivating people.
  - As seen by the employees, it includes the total pattern of explicit and implicit actions performed by their leader (Newstrom, Davis, 1993).

- Leadership style is the result of the philosophy, personality, and experience of the leader.

- The search for the ideal leadership style has continued for centuries and leadership theories are numerous.

Leading Self

- Workgroup “The Leadership Journey”
- Reflection time on your “Leadership style survey”
Workgroup

- Article “The Leadership Journey”

- Individual lecture of the article

- In sub-group of 4-5 people, discuss and answer the following questions
  - Describe high-level (1 sentence) the leadership styles illustrated in the article
  - Describe what the leader DO and IS
  - Imagine the reasons for change (advantage, inconvenient)

- Nominate a reporter for your sub-group that will report to the entire group
Reflection time on your “Leadership style survey”

- Prior to the session: Complete the Leadership Style Survey (based on Kurt’s Lewin model)

Timing

15’ Reflection

- For your-self, answer following questions
  - In your leadership style, what are the 3 key strengths you want to preserve, further develop and build on?
  - In your leadership style, what are the 3 areas that would benefit from some development? For each area:
    - In what specific situation or context?
    - What are the barriers? The enablers?
    - How can you make this come true? (resources, support)
    - What are the + and – to change?
Leading Others – Leading the Organization

- Workgroup “Notable leaders have a lot in common”
- Difference between “Leader” and “Manager” towards the organization
- Character and traits of an effective leader
- Lecture “What makes a leader?” – “Why should any one be led by you?”

« Le plus grand bien que nous faisons aux autres hommes n'est pas de leur communiquer notre richesse, mais de leur révéler la leur »

Louis Lavelle, Philosophe, 1883-1951
Group discussion - Notable leaders have a lot in common

- Name 10 leaders
- Here some leaders

Timing

15’ discussion

- Discuss and answer the following questions
  - Why are these people considered as leader? Or not?
  - What have they achieved? (describe in 1 line)
  - What acts have they posed to achieve that result?
  - What are their major traits of character?
Leadership acts – Management acts

- A summarized view

1. Leadership
   - Establishes direction
     - Creates a vision
     - Clarifies the big picture
     - Sets strategies
   - Aligns people
     - Communicates goals
     - Seeks commitment
     - Builds teams, coalitions and alliances
   - Motivates and inspires
     - Energizes
     - Empowers subordinates & colleagues
     - Satisfies unmet needs

1. Management
   - Planning and budgeting
     - Establishes agendas
     - Sets timetable
     - Allocates resources
   - Organizing and staffing
     - Provide structure
     - Make job placements
     - Establish rules and procedures
   - Controlling and problem solving
     - Develop incentives
     - Generate creative solutions
     - Take corrective action

Lecture

- Article “What Leaders Really Do”

- Article “Leading Change - Why transformation effort fail”

- Question
  - Explain the actions that great Leaders take towards success of the organization
    - Establish a sense of urgency
    - Create powerful coalition, align people
    - Set and communicate a vision
    - Remove obstacles, motivate
    - Plan to create short term wins
    - Stabilize (Avoid declare victory too soon)
    - Anchor change in corporate culture
To be an effective leader, your followers must have trust in you and they need to be sold on your vision.

One of the ways to build trust is to display a good sense of character composed of beliefs, values, skills, and traits

- Beliefs are what we hold dear to us and are rooted deeply within us.
- Values are attitudes about the worth of people, concepts, or things. Values are important as they influence a person's behavior to weigh the importance of alternatives.
- Skills are the knowledge and abilities that a person gains throughout life.
- Traits are distinguishing qualities or characteristics of a person, while character is the sum total of these traits. There are hundreds of personality traits (see next page)

• Douglas McGregor “Theory Y and Theory X” (1960)
• James McGregor Burns, “The transactional leader” (1978)
The first major study of leadership styles was performed in 1939 by Kurt Lewin and remained quite influential as it established the 3 major leadership styles still observed today:

- Autocratic
- Delegative
- Participative

Other leadership style

- Narcissistic (range from anywhere between healthy to destructive / toxic)
Behavioral and style theories

- A good leader uses all three styles in a balanced way, depending on what forces are involved between the leader, the followers, and the situation.

- Forces that influence the style to be used include (non-exhaustive):
  - Amount of time available (emergency or not)
  - Knowledge / Skills / Expertise owner
  - Seniority of team (e.g. new crew or temporary work-force)
  - Type of task (structured / unstructured, simple / complicated)
  - Laws or established procedures
  - Climate, internal conflicts, stress level, motivation level
Behavioral and style theories

- In 1958 Tannenbaum and Schmidt (1973) expanded on Lewin’s leadership styles by extending them to seven styles and placing them on a continuum as shown in the diagram below:
The managerial grid model (Robert Blake, Jane Mouton, 1964) originally identified five different leadership styles based on the concern for people and the concern for production.

- The optimal leadership style in this model is based on Theory Y of human motivation (McGregor, 1960s) In this theory, management assumes employees may be ambitious, self-motivated and exercise self-control.

Situational and contingency theories

- Opportunistic
  (no fixed location)

- Paternalistic
  (alternate between (1,9) and (9,1)
Situational and contingency theories

- The Situational Leadership model (Paul Hersey, Ken Blanchard, 1977-1988)

  - There is no single "best" style of leadership. Leadership depends upon each individual situation.
  - The most successful leaders are those that adapt their leadership style to the maturity level (capacity + willingness + ability + education and/or experience) of the individual or group they are attempting to lead or influence.

Functional theory

- Functional leadership theory argues that the leader's main job is to see that whatever is necessary to group needs is taken care of; thus, a leader can be said to have done their job well when they have contributed to group effectiveness and cohesion (Fleishman et al., 1991; Hackman & Wageman, 2005; Hackman & Walton, 1986).

- In summarizing literature on functional leadership, authors observed five broad functions a leader performs when promoting organization's effectiveness. These functions include
  - environmental monitoring
  - organizing subordinate activities
  - teaching and coaching subordinates
  - motivating others
  - intervening actively in the group's work
Integrated psychological theory (3P model of leadership)

- The Integrated Psychological theory of leadership
  - Is an attempt to integrate the strengths of the older theories while addressing their limitations
  - Introduces a new element: the need for leaders to develop their leadership presence, attitude toward others and behavioral flexibility by practicing psychological mastery
  - Offers a foundation for leaders wanting to apply the philosophies of servant leadership and authentic leadership

- The three levels in his model are Public, Private and Personal leadership (Scouller, 2011):
  - Public leadership focuses on the 34 behaviors involved in influencing two or more people simultaneously.
    - Setting the vision, staying focused (4 behaviors)
    - Organizing, planning, giving power to others (2 behaviors)
    - Ideation, problem-solving, decision-making (10 behaviors)
    - Executing (6 behaviors)
    - Group building and maintenance (12 behaviors)
Integrated psychological theory (3P model of leadership)

- Private leadership covers the 14 behaviors needed to influence individuals one to one.
  - Individual purpose and task (e.g. appraising, selecting) (5 behaviors)
  - Individual building and maintenance (e.g. recognizing) (9 behaviors)

- Personal leadership is an "inner" level and concerns a person's growth toward greater leadership presence, technical knowhow and skill.
  - 7 qualities of presence: (1) personal power – command over one’s thoughts, feelings and actions; (2) high, real self-esteem; (3) the drive to be more, to learn, to grow; (4) a balance of an energetic sense of purpose with a concern for the service of others and respect for their free will; (5) intuition; (6) being in the now; (7) inner peace of mind and a sense of fulfillment
  - “Presence” is not the same as “Charisma”.
    - Leaders can be charismatic by relying on a job title, fame, skillful acting or by the projection of an aura of “specialness” by followers
    - Presence is something deeper, more authentic, more fundamental and more powerful and does not depend on social status
Transactional and Transformational theories

- Transactional Leadership involves exchange of labor for rewards
- Transformational Leadership is based on concern for employees, intellectual stimulation, and providing a group vision
