1\textsuperscript{st} CIRM DAY
19\textsuperscript{th} December 2018 (amphi Welsh)

8:30  \textit{Coffee and registration}

8:50  Welcome

9:00  Nanomedicines for the Intracellular Delivery of Biologics: challenges to overcome, Prof. \textit{Stefaan De Smedt}, Ghent Research Group on Nanomedicines.

9:40  Estrogens and nanovectors, \textit{Christel Pequeux}.

10:10 Natural compound-containing liposome as strategy against resistant \textit{P.falciparum} and cytotoxicity, \textit{Allison Ledoux}.

10:30 Development of graphical user interface for database building and for falsification applications, \textit{Laureen Coïc}.

10:50 Coffee break

11:10 Ozone-primed neutrophils influence early steps of tumor cell metastasis to lungs by enhancing their NETs production, \textit{Natacha Rocks}.

11:40 Quality control and aggregation follow-up of insulin formulations, \textit{Alice Demelenne}.

12:00 Intact Glucagon determination by LC-MS/MS, \textit{Jordi Farre-Segura}.

12:20 SFC-MS for the quality control of cannabis: addressing the potential adulteration with synthetic cannabinoids, \textit{Hugues Jambo}.

12:40 \textit{Lunch and posters session}

13:30 Disrupting the metabolic adaptation of cancer cells with small molecules as a promising anticancer strategy, \textit{Raphaël Frédérick}, Louvain Drug Research Institute (LDRI).

14:10 GPR101 orphan receptor: a novel cause of growth hormone deregulation, \textit{Dayana Abboud}.

14:30 Belgian national survey on tinea capitis: epidemiology and molecular investigations from the first 6-months period, \textit{Rosalie Sacheli}.

14:50 From metabolomics study of Age Related Macular Degeneration to the development of new pyruvate dehydrogenase kinase inhibitors, \textit{Deniz Arslan}.

15:10 Coffee break

15:30 Self-testing in infectiology: is it the future? \textit{Marie-Pierre Hayette}.

16:00 Data-independent analysis for proteomic studies using ion mobility mass spectrometry, \textit{Gwenaël Nys}.

16:20 Endometriosis: a deep insight into the pathology through metabolomics, \textit{Justine Leenders}.

16:40 B2H presentation, \textit{Caroline Thielen}

16:50 \textit{Round table with pharma industries:} Mitral technologies, Janssen, PDC line, Galephar, Catalent, GSK, Mithra (+ B2H et Interface)

17:30 Drink