

A photograph of a grassy field with people sitting on the ground, with buildings in the background. The scene is bright and sunny, with lush green grass and trees. In the background, there are several multi-story buildings, one of which is a prominent red and white structure. The sky is clear and blue.

Is commoning compatible with heterotopia?

Reflections from Montreal's Champ des Possibles

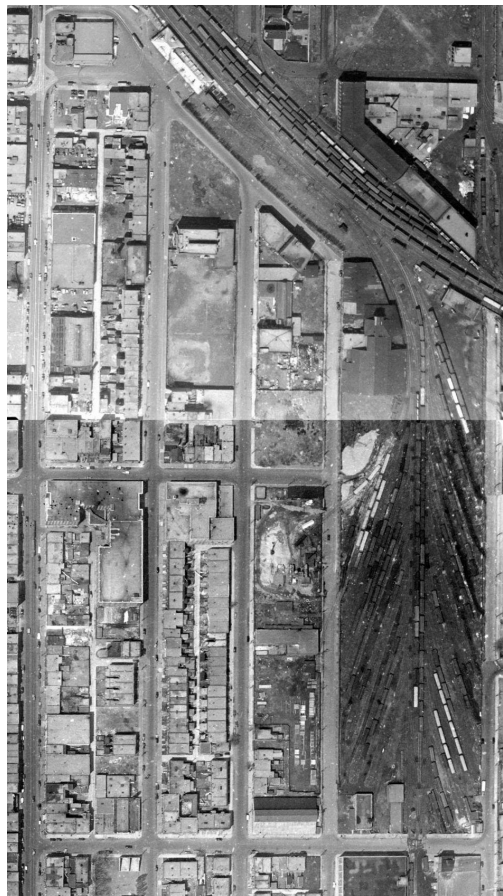

Amy R. Poteete (Concordia University)

Pavel Kunysz (University of Liège)

Nik Luka (McGill University)

Prepared for the 2022 Nordic Environmental Social Science conference workshop:

Urban regeneration in partnership with nature: Local challenges and solutions, 7 – 9 June 2022 in Gothenburg, Sweden

1947

2008

2022

Heterotopia and commoning in tension

Findings

Social acceptance as a foundation for coexistence

Scale - Ephemerality - Discretion - Foreclosing

Learning social acceptance

Le Lion et la souris / The Lion and The Mouse

June 5, 2019 · 🌐

Les cachettes naturelles, on aime ça! 🥰 Il y en a plein au Champ des Possibles. Ça nous fait penser aux espaces « secrets » de nos enfances... Là où nous nous sentions calmes, libres, et capables! ❤️

Natural hiding spots, we love that! There are plenty at the Champ des Possibles. That makes us think about the “secret” spaces of our childhood ... where we felt calm, free, and capable!

Implications for nature-based urban regeneration

