NEW EDITION OF THE WEBSITE "HISTOIRE DE LA TELEVISION"

I am pleased to announce that my website "Histoire de la télévision", edited from 1999 to 2004 when I was in charge of a lecture at the Free University of Brussels (ULB) is now available in a completely new version, including new content and videos at <https://www.histv.net> . The migration of the site will be progressive and should be finalised in March 2018.

The site includes:

- original articles,
- a unique online collection of texts and other documents on television from 1873 to 1945,
- important bibliography on the various aspects of television (including history of technological developments)
- a selection of videos related to the history of television
- news related to research on history of television, conferences, newly released books,...

Cooperation with researchers and authors is welcomed. You are invited to propose papers or just comments, documents by writing at histv@free.fr

The website is in French, but include huge amounts of texts in English, German, Italian, Portuguese and Russian

Enjoy the reading.
